BULLYING IS NO LAUGHING MATTER

Bullying has become a national epidemic! This full-color paperback book is part of the cure. This is a historic "team-up" of many cartoon favorites, united in encouraging kids to support each other when someone starts bullying. This book is the perfect discussion-starter to engage kids in building supportive relationships. Comics that we are familiar with such as: Beetle Bailey, Blondie, Dennis The Menace, Luann, Dick Tracy, Gil Thorp, Stone Soup, Mary Worth and many others have joined the anti-bullying movement. Many of the comic artists share words of encouragement and some describe their own experience with bullies.

The format of this book is news. It's a "flip book," with two covers and two pathways through these comic adventures. On the "flip side" of the book, comic book hero, The Cardinal, confronts a seemingly horrible "enemy" - the Warthog, who was a victim of bullying himself. Cardinal author and artist Kurt J. Kolka tells his own story of overcoming the effects of bullying; and Camille Paddock, a real life teen-aged girl who has become a hero herself for her own triumph over bullying, tells her story as well.

The unique website, www.BullyingIsNoLaughingMatter.com highlights one anti-bullying comic each week with easy-to-use discussion questions and activity suggestions. Miller Elementary School in Canton, Michigan used the Dennis The Menace comic to create a school wide activity called "Fence of Friends". Fans can also download a colorful Bullying Is No Laughing Matter badge to put on their Facebook pages or websites to show they want to be part of the solution.
